

Kasey Jenkins

Chief Growth Officer, McCormick & Company

As a visionary leader with an ability to blend strategic thinking with operational execution, Kasey Jenkins serves as McCormick's Chief Growth Officer. In her role, she is responsible for the development of McCormick's corporate strategies to drive differentiated growth, strengthen the Company's competitive position, deliver on its corporate development objectives, and advance its sustainability efforts. She is a member of McCormick's Management Committee and oversees the Global Consumer, Flavor Solutions, and Functional Strategy Councils as well as the Purpose-led Performance Governing Council.

Kasey joined McCormick in 1993 and most recently served as Chief Strategy Officer and Senior Vice President, Investor Relations. Throughout her career, she has taken on roles of increasing responsibility in Corporate Finance as well as the Consumer and Flavor Solutions businesses, including Vice President and CFO, North America. Before her tenure at McCormick, Kasey gained valuable experience in public accounting with Arthur Anderson LLP.

She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting and Management Information Systems from Loyola University of Maryland and is a Certified Public Accountant. Kasey is actively involved in the community, serving on the Board for the Ronald McDonald House in Maryland.

Kasey grew up in Plainfield, New Jersey and has lived in Baltimore County, Maryland for the last forty years.